Rothstein May Reveal New Evidence.

By SID MERCER. International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 .- Testimony offered this week by Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler, and Joe Gedeon, second baseman for the St. Louis Browns, is expected to open up new and highly sensational lines of evidence for consideration by the special grand jury sitting in Chicago on the paseball corruption charges. MORE INDICTMENTS EXPECTED.

Thirteen players, gamblers and "gobetweens" were indicted last week by this jury, and it is believed that several others will be tagged by the law as a result of disclosures that may be made this week. Rothstein, it is said, has been per suaded by an official of one of the New York clubs, to tell what he knows about the "fixing" of the world series of 1919. He steadfastly maintains that he was not involved in the corruption of Chicago players. and his friends have apparently convinced him that his best defense is to present the Chicago probers with the facts at his command. It is believed that Rothstein will appear before the grand jury tomorrow or Wednesday.

Gedeon is due in Chicago today from California. Ban Johnson, prestdent of the American League, was before the grand jury last week and discovered that the presence of the St. Louis player was desired by that body. Johnson requested that no ac-tion be taken in Gedeon's case until the player could be heard in his own defense. He then acquainted Gedeon by wire of the seriousness of the charges and obtained a promise that the player would come to Chicago for examination this week

MYSTERIOUS ALLUSIONS. About the time that Jackson, Williams. Cicotte, and Felsch were confessing their shameful part in "framng up" the Chicago-Cincinnati series. there were many mysterious references to a "certain American League player" not a member of the Chicago team. This player was supposed to have cleaned up a tidy sum by betting on the Reds. This player was credited with be stances, yet the grand jury has requested his attendance, which indicates that more sensational disclos-ures are at hand. It is an ugly mess, but nobody
